About Morakhia Group

Founded in 1976 in a small town of Gujarat, Morakhia Group began its journey with a simple yet profound passion for tea. What started as a modest venture in loose tea trading soon grew into a trusted network of partnerships with wholesalers, retailers, and packagers across the region.

Over the decades, our unwavering commitment to quality and consistency has transformed Morakhia Group into a recognized name in the tea industry. Guided by deep industry expertise and the loyalty of our customers, we have expanded from bulk supply to creating distinctive tea experiences for end consumers.

To meet evolving tastes and build a stronger connection with tea lovers, we introduced our own brands:

EXOTEA – A premium collection crafted to highlight the richness, aroma, and heritage of India’s finest teas.

MANGAMTI – A bold and authentic blend inspired by Gujarat’s vibrant tea culture.

Today, Morakhia Group stands at the intersection of tradition and innovation, carrying forward a legacy of trust while embracing new opportunities in domestic and global markets. With every cup, we aim to share the authentic taste of Indian tea with the world.

MISSION

To craft high-quality tea blends rooted in Gujarat’s rich tea culture, while continuously elevating taste, purity, and customer satisfaction through ethical sourcing and consistent excellence.

VISION

To be a nationally admired tea brand that blends tradition with innovation, delivering authentic and memorable tea experiences to every household.

INDIAN ORTHODOX TEA GRADING

We offer a wide range of Loose Tea in all grades, sourced from India’s finest tea-growing regions. Specially curated for wholesalers, packeteers, private label brands, and exporters, our teas are processed under strict quality standards to ensure consistency, strength, and authentic flavor.

Whether for domestic packaging, institutional supply, or international export, we deliver the perfect balance of taste, aroma, and value across every grade.

Tea Testing Process

Tea tasting is a traditional and meticulous process used to evaluate the quality, character, and consistency of tea. It begins with examining the dry leaves for texture, shape, aroma, and color. Next, the tea is brewed using measured quantities of leaves, precise water temperature, and steeping time to ensure accuracy. Once brewed, the liquor is observed for clarity, color, and brightness.

The aroma is then assessed, as fragrance is a key indicator of freshness and purity.

The tasting itself involves small sips, allowing the liquor to roll across the palate to identify flavor notes, body, smoothness, and aftertaste. Professional tasters may slurp to aerate the tea, enhancing flavor perception.

Finally, the wet leaves are inspected for uniformity and quality. This entire process ensures that each batch meets desired standards and delivers a consistent, enjoyable tea experience.
